

Archive Data Migrations

Delivering complex archive migrations since 2007

In 2007, TrueSwift consultants delivered one of the world’s first archive data migrations. Since then, we have successfully migrated over ½ a petabyte of archived content between a variety of source and target platforms.

Migration requirements are typically driven by:

- End of Life of existing archiving platforms (EAS, EMC EmailXtender etc)
- Change of corporate standards or M&A activity
- Change of corporate strategy (eg. On-premise to .Cloud)
- Advances in technologies (Exchange 2010, 2013 & O365)
- Change of storage strategy (eg. Centera to NTFS)

Migrations of data between archiving platforms can often be complex and time consuming. Built-in capabilities of most of the leading archive platforms are generally weak with limited features and slow performance. Specialist migration tools speed up and de-risk these migrations. To deliver a migration project in the shortest time whilst containing risk and ensuring auditability requires skills and experience in the source and target platforms as well as the migration technology itself.

As specialists in this field, we are trained and accredited partners with most of the leading migration technologies on the market, enabling us to select the most appropriate toolset for any given scenario. Our 16 years of experience in the data archiving field gives us great familiarity with the majority of mainstream archiving platforms in the market.
